CEA Wants Ontario's Elected Officials to Come Clean On Environmental Issues

Windsor, ON – The Citizens Environment Alliance (CEA) is pleased to announce its partnership with ComeClean.ca – a campaign to ask Ontario's elected officials where they stand on environmental issues.

“In Windsor-Essex we have seen some benefits of green energy, including green jobs as a result of the Green Energy Act”, stated Derek Coronado, Coordinator of the CEA. Recently, companies such as Siliken, CS Wind, United Solar, and Unconquered Sun Technologies have decided to operate manufacturing facilities in this region and create renewable energy jobs.

“We want to see environmental progress through green energy continue. Additionally, we need to continue reducing toxic substances in our environment, such as cosmetic pesticides and reduce our reliance on coal-fired power. Green energy-green jobs, cleaner air and cleaner water are key environmental issues for this region and Ontario”, added Coronado.

Confusing comments and statements on Ontario environmental issues made by elected officials will be tracked by ComeClean.ca. ComeClean.ca will also provide help to Ontarians to cut through the confusion and determine where our political leaders stand on important environmental issues, including those in southwestern Ontario: clean air, clean water and clean energy/green jobs.

Beginning May 9th, ComeClean.ca will sponsor several advertisements to promote this environmental initiative in the Windsor-Essex County region.
